

Business Cards.

A CARD-SIMS and PARKES, Wholesale and Retail Herbals. Treat all diseases. 240, George-street North.

A COX, Silks, Woolens, and Cotton. Furs, Beaver, and Hats. 101, Hunter-street.

A WARRIDGE, and SO, Home-street. Gentlemen's apparel according to the latest fashions. Mourning sold at very low prices. 101, Hunter-street.

A J. DUNN, and SONS, Linen and Cotton. From London, employ latest English principles, to manufacture perfect Lin and natural appearance, at moderate cost. All families and travellers will perform with satisfaction. 101, Hunter-street.

A DERRY and SONS, to the
HOBSON and CRITCHIE,
GENTLEMEN'S OUTFITTERS, &c.,
13, HUNTER-STREET.

A J. DUNN and SONS, Linen and Cotton. From London, employ latest English principles, to manufacture perfect Lin and natural appearance, at moderate cost. All families and travellers will perform with satisfaction. 101, Hunter-street.

A RYFICIAL TRIST on field, Vulcanite, &c., and on the most approved modern principles; warranted to be the best in the world, with perfect and durable appearance. All dental operations performed with skill, firmness and extraneous painless. (Hagby street, moderate. HA RILL, 101, Hunter-street, Margate. DUNN, 101, Hunter-street, and Hyde Park.

[illegible]

AD OG REGISTRATION
 Half the number done this year.
 No return, a few days left.
 CHOT P. M. WILLIAMS
FURNITURE Re-polished and Repaired A. STEIN
 BATH, Kitchen & Dining St. Mueen W. Williams
FASHIONABLE DRESSMAK STITCHING
 Miss S. ROCKETT has much pleasure and the public in general, that she is waiting there daily. Orders given by HILLSWOLD, W. MAPPLEBURY AND CO.
 154, GEORGE-STREET, near DRINGBEE-FREE.
 N. B. - Please note the address
 If you want your STOVE Repaired, call or send by Ward, Arlington Street, 6th, Crown-street.
W. GEORGE-STREET

[illegible]

street between William and Washington streets. TRAVELLERS BY SEA and LAND Portmanteaus, Trunks and Bags, Ladies' Requisites, Ladies' and Gentlemen's Fitted Bags, Travelling Cases, Tourist Bags, Bags for Children, Portfolios, Portraits and Valises, a large stock of Travelling Trunks. JOHN BRUSH, SON, and COMPANY, 405, Chestnut street, near to R. F. M. T. M. S. O. Professional Valuator, a large Valuations for private, administrative and judicial purposes. Also, a large stock of Valuable Jewellery. Complaint in a few days. Vice-President, Darius		apartment and all the ages. In months and daily
Books, Publications, &c. BOOKS, STATIONERY, AND F GROCE Esche answers where!		GLA LAN the any
In order to be sure of getting the best value for your money, make sure you call at the principal store. To get FILLER'S STATIONERY HALL,		any

233 and 267, George-street.

PULLER'S, for Newspapers, 5 guineas quarterly, bid to do
PULLER'S, for Linenpins, 250 packets, is up to do
PULLER'S, for every kind of Stationery, 10s per doz
PULLER'S, for Commercial Letter Papers, all qualities
PULLER'S, for Best Paper, Best Pads, Manus Papers, &c.
PULLER'S, for Pens, Quills, &c. 10s per doz
PULLER'S, for Leather Travelling, Cases, Leather books, &c.
PULLER'S, for Parchment, Brief Papers, Paper, Leather
PULLER'S, for Cheap Accounts, Books and Paper Books
PULLER'S, for Pens, for Penholders, 10s per doz
PULLER'S, for Pocket Books, Papers, Portfolios, Paper Wages
PULLER'S, for the best of Goods at cheapest prices.

PULLER'S, for Albums, Paper, Pasteboards, Vases
PULLER'S, for Cards, Paper, for Portfolios, Portures
PULLER'S, for the new Drawing pens
PULLER'S, for the Magnificent Vases
PULLER'S, for Automatic Copying Machine
PULLER'S, for School Books of every kind
PULLER'S, for Copy, Manuscript, and House Lesson Books
PULLER'S, for Price and Presentation Books
PULLER'S, for Manuscript and Presentation Books

BOOKS. B.OOKS. BOCKA.

GREAT CLEARANCE SALE.
WORKS ON THE HORSE, CATTLE, DOGS, &c.

YOUATT on Cattle, 6s.; Sheep, 6s.
Mayhew's Hatched Horse Book, 12s.
Horse Management, 10s.
The Horseman's Companion, 12s.
Horsburgh's Dog Training, 6s.
Randall's Practical Shepherd, 6s.
Sheep Husbandry, 6s.
Wild Wood Shop, 6s.
Dutton's Veterinary Medicine, 10s. 6d.

[illegible][illegible]

Also, a new and carefully selected supply of VIOLINS
and
VIOLIN STRINGS.

NICHOLSON and CO.,
327, Cross-street.

MADDOCK'S LIBRARY, 281, George-street, N^o.
Books by every name. Terms on application.

JUST PUBLISHED, L. DABIES for 1854.
1 vol. Washington, D. C. Street.

ADREWS, for drawing notions. Artists' Drawings, 779, Pitt-st.

INSOR and NEWTON'S Artists' Materials & every description. Artists' Article (Dent, 63), George-street.

ONE-FINE UNRESERVED SALK. PABLO
MITA, and Maturing. BATT. MOOD, and PUA-VIA.

THE FEDERATION OF THE COLONIES, and the Land and the Colonies, and the Pamphlet on the above, and other exciting subjects. Free by post. Amsterdam. Washington H. Bond and Co., 17, Pitt-st.

REQUIRED, Situation by first-class General Servant; good refs.; wages 16s per week. Lizzie, P. O., Oxford-st.

RESPECTABLE Woman, wants day or week's Washing, Ironing or plain needlework. Caroline, London, Wm-st.

RESPECTABLE young man requires a situation. Address, J. A. Kent-st.

RESPECTABLE young Man, stationer, honest, sober, and of work; fairer look. Address, A. D. H. E., Herald Office.

SILVERSMITHS and Jewellers, Employment of Men, Women, London experience; good wages. Address, J. A. Kent-st.

SITUATION wanted, by young man, in store or other office. Address, J. A. Kent-st.

SITUATION wanted, a Baker, young man just landed, good to temperamental. See, Herald Office.

WHO BUTCHERS, a Smallage de Man open for Engineer.

[illegible]

WANTED, by Country person, working Home-
WANTED, by 2 gents, even work, H. M. 109, Prince- WANTED, SITUATION, by steady or Man, as day or night waitman, J. A. 380, Kent- WANTED, by respectable Woman, P. N. 3, North-
Cook, down or country, good ref.
WANTED, by Engineer, driver, car drivers, Apply to man even work, W. 109, Prince- WANTED, a place as General Servant in a small family, Apply to Burn-
WANTED, Situation as working Homekeeper, by a respectable Woman, J. 33, W. 109, Prince- WANTED, by young Lady, SITUATION, in a family as house maid, Apply to man even work, W. 109, Prince- WANTED, Gentlemen or Family Wanted, even convenience on most reasonable terms, L. P. 109, Prince-

WANTED, A SITUATION, in a respectable firm, as Correspondent or stenographer; good advantage; direct reference to the following:

WANTED, A SITUATION by Mr. Map, in a clothing factory, well up in the trade; no account of his own. Apply J. R. W., Herald office.

WANTED, by highly respectable and trustworthy person, a position as stenographer, typewriter, and generally useful wife, housemaid or cook and laundress, in a small family. Address J. B., Herald office.

WANTED, by a young gentleman of 10 years' experience in the drugery, a SITUATION as Commercial Traveler; salary, $100 a year; 2 years; salary no subject. Address Commercial, G. P. O.

WANTED, SITUATION, by a young man in warehouse or otherwise, recently discharged, salary not so much as collect as a permanent salaried position. References, such as required. E. W. A., Herald Office.

WANTED through practical ENGINE-FITTER for the Warrenton Coal Company's Collieries. One that has had experience in underground haulage and tunneling. No children. Write to J. H. McCall, Warrenton, Ore., or to JAMES HARRISON, Colliery Manager, Charleston.

YOUNG MAN - WANTS KNIGHT MEET AS DRIVER OR ANY LIGHT employment, references. A. K., Herald Office.

YOUNG MAN wants SITUATION as PORTER in warehouse, references. G. W. 53, Harrison-Street, Utimo.

YOUNG MAN wants SITUATION in produce store of Businesses for Sale.

TO LITERARY MEN AND OTHERS

FOR SALE, the GOODWILL and PLANT of a Country News paper, open to printing at present, being a flourishing business. Apply to James and John, Georgetown.

HOTEL, first-class house, in one of the finest pal towns, good and improving trade; a-also, if required. Apply to James and Phillips, wine and spirit merchants, 2, Mark-street.

FOR SALE, Ham, Beef, and Smoked Goods SHOP. To be sold by public auction, on the 24th of SEPTEMBER, 1836, at 12 o'clock, by the Auctioneer, at the sign of the "Three Kings," in the Strand.

UPON—proof of Trade. Apply by letter to L. A. B., Herald Office.

BAKING BUSINESS for SALE.—In the assigned City, Texas, I am desirous of selling the business of the above estate up to Hugh on SAUERDA, 12th, for the purchase of Goodwill, Lease, Horses, Cattle, &c., &c. For further particulars apply to H. A. B., Herald Office.

FLOUR SALE, cheap, a small brick-making PLANT, consisting of a horse engine and boiler, heavy pump, winding gear and rollers. I have a new double saw stry, and no barrows. R. G. K. K. K., Spedman-road, Marquette.

BUSINESS FOR SALE.—A firm in one of the most flourishing cities of the State, and in one of the most flourishing the retail portion of their business, and wish to find PURCHASER for same; such opportunity of acquiring really good property at low prices as will rarely occur again.

For particulars apply to Frane, Org. & Co.

CHEWINKO offers City Bells, from $250 to $4000
C Wheelockco, Padstow, Surrey Hill, Ullin, Woolaham,
Essex to 600; country, $750, 10 lew; $1000, $1800, $3000.

JOHN SALE—Baluatu, Grocery BUSINESS of 20 years standing, now carried on at Kent Store; large shop-house, 10 rooms, city gas and water, ever convenient; stock all vacuation; goods for sale. A bargain.
Apply to Mr. Robert MILLER, grocer, corner Clarence and Ermine streets.

DALVEN and HOGAN, 313, George-st., have
SALE. 30 goats, 4 horses, 4 handcarriages, 3 Wm. Ross,

FOR SALE, Newton and Balm, long lease, price, reasonable. FOR SALE, opp. Borg & Lott, 1200 ft. FOR SALE, Chemist's BUSINESS. Apply Dr. Faust, Milton, N. S. W.

FACTORY.—FOR SALE, a well-established BUSINESS, requiring no special knowledge, and returning at least $400 per annum clear profit; capital required about $500; with 1000 ft. of frontage on main highway.

TAPLES and CO., 143, King st., have daily inquiries for genuine Businesses. Free advertising inside.

TAPLES and CO. have GROCERY, Terry Bill's, takings, $20 week; rent, 15s; stock, one, $70.

TAPLES and CO. have Fruit, Wine, and Confectionery BUSINESS, route of city, low rent, everything $100.

[illegible]

FOR SALE, a well-established Bakery BUSINESS, long lease; or proprietor would take a first-class baker in as partner, with small capital, for particulars apply B. Devlin, 10, Strand, London, W.C.2.

TO HARRIDRERS AND TOBACCONISTS. For Nails, cheap Tobacco and Hair-dressing Business. 26, Oxford-street.

MERCANTILE AGENCY offer Wood and Coal BUSINESS, well situated; £50, horse, cart, bogs, and stock; good lease of yard at moderate rent, wealthbridge, & Co., 10, Strand, London, W.C.2.

GRANT AND CO. 10, Park-street.—Hôtel for immediate

G and positive sale, for $15; Hotel, etc. 2000; every central only $250; Hotel, $400, $500, $300 to $3000; Tuberculosis and WILLIAM STREET, every room, only $150.
RESTAURANT, containing 8 rooms, dishes, Boarding house, gas throughout; furniture in excellent condition, and the position well in district G. P. O. via par. Ramsey, Arcadia.
FIRST-CLASS RESTAURANT, splendidly furnished and equipped, in excellent location, SALE, in a chance seldom met with. For more, apply to Edwards, 61, NIMBY Arcade.
GROCERY BUSINESS in city, splendid stand and good connection. Arcadia, 41, Arcadia.
FOR SALE, Coal and Fuel BUSINESS in splendid location.

[illegible]

BURN and CO. offer Hotes, 11 years' lease; rent, all paid, £400. Office, Market and Elizabeth streets.

BURN and CO. offer Hotes, city, £500; must suit through Elizabeth street.

BURN and CO. offer Hotes everywhere; one suit buyers. Office, Market and Elizabeth street.

BURN and CO. offer Boarding-house, city, is boarded always full. This is really good. Call at once.

PARRAMATTA SALE, next Saturday, on the ground,
5.30 p.m. BATT. MODD, and PT W&A.

NEXT SATURDAY AFTERNOON

LANE COVE-ROAD, NORTH SHORE.

HILL CREST ESTATE,
AUCTION SALE ON THE GROUND.
Ombudses from Mine's Point at 3.15.
Large 'Abotements, Grand Scenery, Easy Terms; on the Railway, and only 2 1/2 miles from the ferry.
T. & HUNTLEY, 120, Pitt-street.
N.B.—Lithra now ready.

[illegible]

provided by the Department. Apparently the proposal will increase the burdens of the Department: in reality, however, it is calculated to lighten them. As long as the task of putting up Provisional schools is a joint affair there must be friction and delay. The Department must wait for parents or parents for the Department. Where the inspectors may deem a school necessary the parents may be of an opposite opinion, and failing the establishment of a Provisional school the Government may find itself compelled to establish a Public school. In this way, where a small outlay is sufficient, a large one is necessitated. It is stated that every year there are scores of applications for Public schools in districts where there is but a bare chance of the average attendance of twenty pupils being maintained. The new regulation will give the Government the power to decide whether it will erect a Public school or a Provisional school, and thus to determine whether the outlay on school buildings shall be some fifty or sixty pounds or three or four hundred pounds, according to all accounts the present regulation has already led to much wasteful expenditure.

The question of expenditure, however, is not the only or the most important one. The Provisional schools under the Act of 1880 were very different schools from those under the present Act. Nominally at least the former were private schools. Under the old Act there were three kinds of schools. First, there were those that belonged to the Council; second, there were those that were supposed to be the result of voluntary enterprise outside the denominations. "In remote and thinly-populated districts," the Act of 1880 said, "where no Public school may exist the Council of Education may grant assistance to other schools established by private persons." The schools were conducted under public regulations, but they were private property. As a matter of fact, most of the Provisional schools under the old Act were Denominational schools. Private persons are not in the habit of establishing schools which are to be worked under public regulations. For the most part the Provisional schools were conducted in ecclesiastical buildings and for ecclesiastical purposes. The Act of 1880 retained the provision for schools of this class, but with important modifications. According to the old Act the Provisional schools were to be established by private persons, while according to the new one, they were to be established by the Minister. Provisional schools as Public schools. The difference between the two kinds of schools is that while the latter are fully organized, the former are not. "Classed as fully organized, but as Provisional only under regulations for that purpose to be approved by the Governor."

But while under the new Act Provisional schools are supposed to be established by the Minister, parents have continued to supply school buildings and furniture. Although to all intents and purposes State schools, Provisional schools have continued to be supplied by private enterprise. Unfortunately also the obligation to furnish school-buildings and equipments often falls on a class of parents who can ill-afford to supply them. There are many localities in which something like half a dozen families have settled, and if such localities are supplied with the means of education at all it must be through Provisional schools. As often as not the people in these localities are extremely poor, and on this account to insist on their contributing towards the expense of a school-building is to deprive them of all chance of educating their children. Now that the State has taken over the whole system of education, such a demand is as unjust as it is ungenerous. It is certainly not even-handed justice to supply the well-to-do people of thickly populated localities with school-buildings and to insist that the poorer classes in sparsely populated localities shall supply such buildings for themselves. In the beginning of the present year a concession was made to the effect that the Department pay two-thirds of the cost of Provisional school buildings; but the practical value of the concession has been exceedingly small. The change which has been recommended by the inspectors is dictated by both justice and convenience. The danger that the new regulation will lead to an unnecessary multiplication of schools is not a serious one. No Provisional school can be established except on the recommendation of an inspector, and no inspector can recommend that a Provisional school be established within four miles of a Public school. The step which is now to be taken is certainly in accordance with the spirit of the Act, and there can be little doubt that it will tend to further its ends.

It is pleasing to find public interest again awakening in connection with the management of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales. The annual general meeting of members, which is to be held on the 10th instant, is being anticipated by many suggestions regarding the management, and the perfection and improvement of the past are being very freely discussed. This is a healthy sign. The managers of any society who in these straining times do not meet with some kind of criticism cannot be regarded as meritoriously active, and as the five gentlemen in this case form the council of the Agricultural Society have performed much work, they should not feel surprised or aggrieved if some portion of that work do not meet with universal approval. In July, 1881, when they very pluckily took over the affairs of the society, then embarrassed by a bank overdraft of £1078, and also by liabilities which amounted to £1130, the prospect was far from being cheerful. The two preceding years had proved remarkably unpropitious. The grand International Exhibition of 1879, projected by the Agricultural Society, had but too effectively eclipsed the shows of its projector. The society rapidly lost members, and debts commenced to accumulate. It was at this period that the lease of the Alfred Park building expired, and as the members of the society thought it would be injudicious to renew it and again incur the responsibility of a rental of £1000 per year, the principal agricultural society of the colony was left without a show ground. The first effort of the new council was to discharge the debt, and the next to provide a suitable place for future exhibitions. Fortunately, they met with sympathy from both the Government and the Municipal Council. The former provided them £5000 conditionally upon a like sum being raised by public contributions—or, in other words, a subsidy of pound for pound; and the latter very liberally set apart 40 acres of Moore Park, which they allowed the society to occupy at the nominal rental of £20 per year. Then the public answered the council's appeal to meet the Government's subsidy by subscriptions which amounted to £2921, and the new ground was fenced and furnished so that an exhibition might be held.

The first exhibition under the new management, and on the new show ground, was held in April, 1882. The weather was extraordinarily inclement, and through this and other causes the first exhibition was in many respects a failure. At the annual general meeting which followed, the members, at the suggestion of their council, agreed that the next exhibition should be held in August, 1883; and as there was an interval of more than six months to be devoted to the work of preparation, it was confidently anticipated that the second exhibition would be creditable to the society and the colony. At this stage the council of the society received further financial aid by an unconditional grant from the Government of £3000, and it seemed that the high road to success was by this liberal act thoroughly cleared. The council, however, seemed rather tardy in the work of preparing for the promised exhibition. The publication of the prize schedule was not speedily accomplished, nor did the intentions of the society obtain publicity until a few weeks before the opening of the exhibition. Probably it was through this tardiness that the schedule, although it set forth a list of prizes which were unusually high, failed to attract large entries. The exhibition was held, and according to all reports was not successful. Complaints regarding its management came from many sources. The exhibits, although numerous, were badly placed, and the important work of judging was delayed. It was possibly one of the least satisfactory of the many exhibitions held by the society, and by many critics its faults were attributed to the fact that the council in a numerical sense was weak, and, being so, could not properly manage an exhibition upon so large a show-ground.

It is probable, too, that this assumption is not far wide of the mark. During the occupancy of Alfred Park, where at least eight successful exhibitions were held, the managing body of the society consisted of a president, 12 vice-presidents, and 60 members of council, who met at least once a month to transact any important matter of business, and in the intervals between such meetings an executive committee of ten members elected from the council attended to minor details. This committee, with an active secretary, undoubtedly did the principal share of the work. Each month they brought up a report containing suggestions and a financial statement, and this report was, after consideration and discussion, either adopted or rejected by the council. The committee, being members of the council, of course had ample opportunity to support their own proposals. Under this system the business as a rule was conducted satisfactorily. There was the special advantage, too, that when any very important work had to be performed there were many honorary officers available. Since 1881, however, under the present rules of the society, five members have been attempting to perform such work as before their election was distributed amongst as many as seventy-three members. Unlike the old executive committee, this small council are not subject to any controlling power save the entire body of members, when they are not expected to meet, unless in exceptional cases, more than once in each year.

In connection with this, it is noteworthy that since 1881 the responsibilities incurred by the society have been greater than any indicated by its records since 1868, the year of its formation. Between the latter year and 1877, during which period eight exhibitions, one of which was a most important one, were held by the society, endowments from the State did not amount to more than £2463, while subscriptions made a total of £8329. The largest grant received from the Government was £3000. Under the new system the society is much more deeply indebted to the State. In 1880 it received from the public Treasury £209, in 1881 £309, in 1882 £388, in 1883 £209. In two years the new managing body succeeded in obtaining from the Government no less a sum than £9200, although the same term did not amount to more than £1271. No society has been more favoured. The total receipts with which the new council had to deal from the 1st of July, 1881, to the 30th of September of this year amount to the very handsome total of £14,375 6s. 8d. Nearly all this has been disbursed, and the society, with its newly furnished show ground and plant to the good, is clear of debt; but it must not be forgotten that the public purse has been extensively drawn upon to bring about this happy result.

It would seem that the small council has been more successful in obtaining the sympathies of Ministers than the support of the public. In 1876 the society consisted of 1050 members. Its roll at present does not bear the names of more than 400. The small council has been successful in working in a small circle, but their predecessors, the larger body, operated in a more extensive sphere. The obvious conclusion is that the best course now to follow is to strengthen the weak parts of the concern. The valuable assistance of citizens and dwellers in the country should be secured, and the members' roll enlarged. The administrative work which of late certain faults have been found should not be allowed to rest on so few shoulders. The society has a great work to perform, and perhaps it would be well to return in the direction of the old system, so that it may be creditably performed.

The Protection and Political Reform League has discovered another source of injustice to native industry. Any number of exhibitions has been held during the past few years, in fact, there is scarcely a country on the face of this planet with any pretensions to civilization that has not had one or more of those now fashionable fairs. At the principal of them this colony has been well represented. We have also had our international and intercolonial exhibitions on our own soil. But there has not been one devoted entirely to the display of our own productions and manufactures. Wherever our exhibits have been shown, there have been the hated foreign products and manufactures surrounding them, occasionally to the detriment of the goods and fame of our handicraftsmen. The League has, therefore, resolved to take measures for holding in Sydney a public exhibition of manufactured and unmanufactured articles of every description, the productions of New South Wales only. A committee has been appointed to mature the project and solicit the Government to aid it with a grant of money. It is easy to conceive that such an exhibition might serve many useful purposes. But it is bound to fail in one essential particular; it will not enable our artisans and mechanics to compare their work with that of other and older countries, and therefore it will not teach that most useful of all lessons to be derived alone from comparison of results. International exhibitions have enabled nations and countries to interchange ideas, and have thus stimulated the inventive genius of man, and been the means of effecting many improvements in production. The achievements of one country have been shown in conjunction with those of another. Defects have thus been detected, and new methods of application discovered. In the proposed exhibition, however, this element of usefulness will be wholly wanting. Still it does not follow that this would militate against the pecuniary success of the undertaking, whilst, as we have remarked, it may be made to subserve some good purposes. Very much, of course, will depend upon the willingness of our manufacturers and producers to send articles for display, and we presume, competition. At several of our local exhibitions the jealousy of our manufacturers has been made manifest by the absence of exhibits; and the League's committee will probably ascertain the feelings of the home producers before finally determining upon the course of action and articles for display to the public money. They should also see to it that the means adopted are sufficient to achieve adequate results. It is certainly a somewhat ambitious fight for a body of such dimensions as the Protection and Political Reform League, but we do not now live in an age when small things are easily despised.

At Albany a municipal case of some importance has occurred. A person residing beyond the lighted streets of the town refused on that ground to pay a lighting rate. The magistrate has given judgment against him. If the rate, though a special rate, is of general benefit, as lighting rates usually are, it must pay, whether the person is living within the radius of the lights or not. The equity of municipal arrangements, however, is not always apparent. A pavement bylaw, for instance, may charge upon a proprietor a part of the cost of pavement in front of his property, but how since the pavement is for the use of the whole community as the asphalt is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property are as nature made them, or worse. How since the street is for the use of the whole community, the same basis as to equity. Any one living beyond the reach of pavements and light has the free use of both equally with any one living within their reach. Whatever can be said for a partial application of one of these rules might be said for the limited application of the other also. The same argument will apply to the formation of streets. A resident in an unfurnished street might refuse to pay rates on the ground that thoroughfares passing his property

ES sell, next SATURDAY

on the GROUND—
PARRAMATTA—17 magnificent Building Sites
PARRAMATTA—every lot MUST BE SOLD
PARRAMATTA—Absolutely WITHOUT RESERVE
PARRAMATTA—The Sale to attend
PARRAMATTA—Call for PLANS and inspect
PARRAMATTA—You can't go wrong in buying
PARRAMATTA—Remember, NEXT SATURDAY
PARRAMATTA—On the Ground, at 3.30 p.m.
BATT, RODD, and FURVES,

PRELIMINARY ANNOUNCEMENT.
To Gentlemen Furnishing, Private Buyers, Furniture Warehouse men, Brokers, and others.
HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE AND IMPORTANT UNRESERVED SALE BY AUCTION
of 61 cases
VERY SUPERIOR LONDON-MADE FURNITURE, personally selected from
THE BEST WORKMANSHIPS
by the importer, Mr. T. Cox.

Just landed in excellent order, ex Phasia, from London,
—
This shipment of really grand furniture, for QUALITY, FASHION, and DESIGN, will be found on inspection far superior to any previously submitted to public competition
IN THE CITY OF SYDNEY.
The whole having been personally selected by Mr. T. Cox in suit to the requirements of FIRST-CLASS MANSIONS as well as those of the middle class. Parties, therefore, in quest of
FURNISHINGS OF A SUPERIOR DESCRIPTION are respectfully invited to inspect this splendid shipment which is being set out by FIRST-CLASS EXPERIENCE MERCHANTS

and every line of which must be positively sold under the hammer

WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST RESERVE.

Descriptive Catalogues in course of preparation.

Date of Sale in future issue.

LOUIS COHEN has received instructions from Mr. T. Cox to sell by auction, at the Rooms, 312, George-street, on an early date,

61 Cases

VERY SUPERIOR LONDON-MADE FURNITURE.

P U B L I C N O T I C E

In consequence of this day being our holiday, the usual weekly AUCTION SALE of Cutlery, Fancie Goods, and Tobaccos, and Groceries will NOT TAKE PLACE, but will be held TO-MORROW, FRIDAY, 11th October, when a large assortment of Fancie Goods, Cutlery, Tobacco, Cigars, and cigarettes will be offered for unreserved auction sale at the Rooms, 152, Pitt-street, next to the New York office, commencing at 11 sharp. Full particulars to-morrow's Herald. N. HERMAN, Auctioneer.

TO-MORROW, FRIDAY, October 12, at 11.

PORT OFFICE AGENCY AND AUCTION COMPANY.

114, PIIT-STREET, opposite POST OFFICE.

CLEARANCE SALE
of the following
FLORAL ALBUMS, MIRRORS, OVER MANTLES
ALARM CLOCKS, GOLD CEMENT
ACCORDIONS, UMBRELLA STANDS
JAPANESE AND CHINESE SCREENS, and Sundries.

3 Cases MANILA CIGARS, in Boxes,
10 ditto Sea Island and Coloured Twines
4 Trunks Ladies' and Children's Boots.

THE P. O. A. and A. COMPANY will hold a clearance

When the WHOLE of the ABOVE will be CLEARED
WITHOUT ANY RESERVE.
THURSDAY'S SALE OF GENERAL MERCHANDISE
R.P. WARE, TABLE and POCKET CUTLERY
China and Glass Ornaments
Condensed Milk, Bott Glass
Fancy Jewellery, Leather Goods
Stationery, Albums, Books,
and
GENERAL FANCY GOODS.

WITHOUT RESERVE.

KILLETT and ALFORD will sell by auction, at the Sale Room, 50, Fleet Street, To-DAY, at 11 sharp, Open stock as above.

SUPERIOR LARGE OEOGRAPHIS, in pairs, including
Iceland, Gulling Na, Gulling South
Favourite Landscapes
Scene in the Lake of Wicht, &c., &c.
SUPERIOR BLACK MARBLE and other CLOCKS
LAWN TENNIS and GOLFING STICKS.

KILLETT and ALFORD will sell by auction, at the Sale Room, 50, Fleet Street, THIS DAY, at 12 sharp,

The above goods, without reserve.
FRIDAY, October 14th, at 11 sharp,
 at 130, Harris-street, Plymouth.
SAUNDERS and Co. are favoured with instructions to sell by public auction,
 The whole of stock, fixtures, &c. of grocery business, comprising tea, coffee, cheese, butter, sugar, Swiss milk, &c. lot of confectionery, scales, weights; besides lot of sundries, &c. To be sold without reserve.

FRAY BROS., 402 and 404, George-street.—New lot
JARVIS and SONS.

TO BUILDERS AND OTHERS

TO BE SOLD by public auction, on SATURDAY, the 15th

October, at 3.30 p.m., at Madelin-verret, Hunter's Hill, a Sun and Weatherboard COTTAGE, roofed with iron, almost new; and removed for a few pounds.

W. J. DOYLE, Auctioneer.

AUCTION SALE, NEXT SATURDAY,
on the GROUND, at 3 p.m. sharp.

A six-roomed house, land, draper's shop, goodwill, furniture, carpets, &c., &c., Point Piper-road, Woolahra, occupied by Mr. Minto.

COX and TATE, Auctioneers,
119, Elizabeth-street.

EXT. SATURDAY AFTERNOON.
LANE COVER-ROAD, NORTH SHORE.
HILL CREST ESTATE.
AUCTION SALE ON THE GROUND.
 Omnibuses from M. & N.'s Point at 2.15.
 Large Allotments, Grand Scenery, Easy Terms; on the Railway, and only 15 miles from the ferry.
 T. S. HUNTLEY, 130, Pitt-street.
 N.B.—Lithos. now ready.

To the Working Class, Small Capitalists, and others.
In the Estate of the late Mr. James Devitt.
Under Instructions from the Executors of the Will of the late
Mr. James Devitt.

Postponed from last Saturday on account of the weather.

P. M. SENS and CO., Auctioneers, 229, George-street will sell by public auction, on the ground, at Botany, of 1 AUCKLAND 18th Estate, 1884, at 3 p.m.

Without reserve.

15 ALLOTMENTS OF BUILDING SITES, splendidly situated, of which 7 allotments contain each 1/2 acre frontage to Pav-street, by a depth of 80 feet, and only 100 feet from Botany-road.

And 4 sixteenth 160 feet frontage to a wide lane at the rear, and a depth of 67 feet.
Title, 'Torrens'.
TERMS—Half of the purchase money cash, balance bearing interest at 6 per cent. per annum, by monthly instalments of £1. Solicitors to the Estate, Messrs. HAY & HENDERSON. Full particulars and plan at the Rooms.
F. M. HAY & CO., Auctioneers,
229, George-street North.

WATKIN and WATKIN SELL
BUCKINGHAM PARK, situate on the Main Pittwater-road, within five minutes' drive of the "Steamer"
Title will be under Torrens' Act.
Terms will be very liberal.
Level land, good soil for gardens.
Plans now being prepared by Mr. Curtis.

All particulars shortly.
BILL CRESS. HILL CREST.

BURWOOD NORTH. BURWOOD NORTH.

25 ELEVATED BUILDING SITES.
WATKIN and WATKIN sell by auction, on the Ground, on SATURDAY week, October 20, at 3 p.m.—
 Lots 1, 2, 3, and 4 of section 1, each 30 feet frontage to wide Government road, by depths of 150 feet
 Lots 12, 14, 16, 18, section 1, each 50 feet frontage to Wall-bank-street, depths 150 feet
 Lots 11, 13, 15, 17, section 1, each 30 feet frontage to High-street, depths 150 feet
 Lot 7, section 2, 30 feet frontage to Fairview-street, depths 150 feet
 Lots 5, 6, 7, 8, section 2, each 30 feet frontage to Fairview-

Lots 1, 2, and 3, sec. 4, each 50 feet frontage to Wellbush road, depths 135 feet.
Lots 4, 5, 6, 13, and 14, sec. 4, each 50 feet frontage to Luugate-street, depths 150 feet.

HILL CREST

most appropriately named, as it is on the very crest of a beautiful hill, commanding views all around, embracing the waters of Ten and Chicken bay, within easy distance from Burwood station, and on the Burwood side of Mr. Flavelle's mansion.

INSPECTION INVITED.

Title under Torrens' Act.

TERMS—$5 deposit, balance in 15 equal monthly payments interest 6 per cent., or 30 equal monthly installments, interest per cent.

CAMPBELLFIELDS, A SPLENDID ESTATE
Special train. Free luncheon. Richardson and Wrench.
ST. LEONARDS PARK, North Shore Heights.—Plans are ready. Sale, Saturday, October 30. Hardie and Gorman.
BAIT, RODD, and PURVES sell, this SATURDAY,
on the GROUND—
KRAMATTA—17 magnificent Building Sites
KRAMATTA—Every lot MUST BE SOLD
KRAMATTA—Absolutely WITHOUT RESERVE
FOR the SITE.

ARRAMATTA—Call for PLANS and inspect
ARRAMATTA—You can't go wrong in buying ARRAMATTA—Remember, NEXT SATURDAY
ARRAMATTA—On the Ground, at 3.30 p.m.

BATT. ROAD, and FURVEY, Auctioneers.

11

T. LEONARD PARK, North Shore Heights. — Plant and machinery, for sale, including 200, 110 and 140 mm.
 TORP. FACTORY, &c., 221, Southview Road, Slough.
 Light, private and public, 200, 110 and 140 mm.
 OFFICE OF OFFICES, 20, 110 and 140 mm.
 SUMMER, 110 and 140 mm. and 100 mm.

SUMNER HILLS.—To LET, Cassella Cottage, 5 rooms, &c., good water. 110, James Little, 247, Gloucester-st.

SURRY HILLS.—HO. 85, woods, hall, kitchen, &c., close Belmore Park, 2nd ed. 44th and 1st hills, 60, Buxton.

SHOP and SWEETENERS to LET, in Harris-street, with counter, shelving, and gas fittings. A first-class opportunity.

TO CABMEN.—HOUSE and STABLES to LET, Golden Grove, Darlington-road, and Back-lane-street.

TO LET, a PART OF STORE. No. 3, Queen's-place.

TO LET, 139, Dowling-street, Vere de Vere-terrace, 3

TO LET, Waverley, 6-roomed HOUSES, 14s. and W.B. COTTAGE, 15s. week. J. Wiley, 205, Finsbury-street.

TO LET, in Elizabeth-street, Paddington, a pretty, new 6-roomed HOUSE, including garden. Weekly rent, 15s. 6d.

TO LET, No. 1st, Down-street, Westminster, 6 ROOMS, bath, and 2nd box-room. Apply to the land agent.

TO LET; Very nice detached semi-detached cottage summer house. J. H. Bosley, Kington Road, Newport.

TO LET; HOUSE, No. 296, Victoria-street, Earlsburg; real mod. W. W. Bell, 44, 45, 46, Marlborough-street.

TO LET, at Mount Victoria, a COFFEE, & FOODS rent £35 per annum. Apply 214, H. G. Street.

TO LET, Seafham, Keweenaw-street, Annandale House, 6 rooms, kitchen, bath, &c. for sale or to let. Apply 214, H. G. Street.

TO LET, No. 614, Crown-street, Close to train, 8 rooms,
2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th, 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, 26th, 27th, 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st, 32nd, 33rd, 34th, 35th, 36th, 37th, 38th, 39th, 40th, 41st, 42nd, 43rd, 44th, 45th, 46th, 47th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 56th, 57th, 58th, 59th, 60th, 61st, 62nd, 63rd, 64th, 65th, 66th, 67th, 68th, 69th, 70th, 71st, 72nd, 73rd, 74th, 75th, 76th, 77th, 78th, 79th, 80th, 81st, 82nd, 83rd, 84th, 85th, 86th, 87th, 88th, 89th, 90th, 91st, 92nd, 93rd, 94th, 95th, 96th, 97th, 98th, 99th, 100th, 101st, 102nd, 103rd, 104th, 105th, 106th, 107th, 108th, 109th, 110th, 111th, 112th, 113th, 114th, 115th, 116th, 117th, 118th, 119th, 120th, 121st, 122nd, 123rd, 124th, 125th, 126th, 127th, 128th, 129th, 130th, 131st, 132nd, 133rd, 134th, 135th, 136th, 137th, 138th, 139th, 140th, 141st, 142nd, 143rd, 144th, 145th, 146th, 147th, 148th, 149th, 150th, 151st, 152nd, 153rd, 154th, 155th, 156th, 157th, 158th, 159th, 160th, 161st, 162nd, 163rd, 164th, 165th, 166th, 167th, 168th, 169th, 170th, 171st, 172nd, 173rd, 174th, 175th, 176th, 177th, 178th, 179th, 180th, 181st, 182nd, 183rd, 184th, 185th, 186th, 187th, 188th, 189th, 190th, 191st, 192nd, 193rd, 194th, 195th, 196th, 197th, 198th, 199th, 200th, 201st, 202nd, 203rd, 204th, 205th, 206th, 207th, 208th, 209th, 210th, 211th, 212th, 213th, 214th, 215th, 216th, 217th, 218th, 219th, 220th, 221st, 222nd, 223rd, 224th, 225th, 226th, 227th, 228th, 229th, 230th, 231st, 232nd, 233rd, 234th, 235th, 236th, 237th, 238th, 239th, 240th, 241st, 242nd, 243rd, 244th, 245th, 246th, 247th, 248th, 249th, 250th, 251st, 252nd, 253rd, 254th, 255th, 256th, 257th, 258th, 259th, 260th, 261st, 262nd, 263rd, 264th, 265th, 266th, 267th, 268th, 269th, 270th, 271st, 272nd, 273rd, 274th, 275th, 276th, 277th, 278th, 279th, 280th, 281st, 282nd, 283rd, 284th, 285th, 286th, 287th, 288th, 289th, 290th, 291st, 292nd, 293rd, 294th, 295th, 296th, 297th, 298th, 299th, 300th, 301st, 302nd, 303rd, 304th, 305th, 306th, 307th, 308th, 309th, 310th, 311th, 312th, 313th, 314th, 315th, 316th, 317th, 318th, 319th, 320th, 321st, 322nd, 323rd, 324th, 325th, 326th, 327th, 328th, 329th, 330th, 331st, 332nd, 333rd, 334th, 335th, 336th, 337th, 338th, 339th, 340th, 341st, 342nd, 343rd, 344th, 345th, 346th, 347th, 348th, 349th, 350th, 351st, 352nd, 353rd, 354th, 355th, 356th, 357th, 358th, 359th, 360th, 361st, 362nd, 363rd, 364th, 365th, 366th, 367th, 368th, 369th, 370th, 371st, 372nd, 373rd, 374th, 375th, 376th, 377th, 378th, 379th, 380th, 381st, 382nd, 383rd, 384th, 385th, 386th, 387th, 388th, 389th, 390th, 391st, 392nd, 393rd, 394th, 395th, 396th, 397th, 398th, 399th, 400th, 401st, 402nd, 403rd, 404th, 405th, 406th, 407th, 408th, 409th, 410th, 411th, 412th, 413th, 414th, 415th, 416th, 417th, 418th, 419th, 420th, 421st, 422nd, 423rd, 424th, 425th, 426th, 427th, 428th, 429th, 430th, 431st, 432nd, 433rd, 434th, 435th, 436th, 437th, 438th, 439th, 440th, 441st, 442nd, 443rd, 444th, 445th, 446th, 447th, 448th, 449th, 450th, 451st, 452nd, 453rd, 454th, 455th, 456th, 457th, 458th, 459th, 460th, 461st, 462nd, 463rd, 464th, 465th, 466th, 467th, 468th, 469th, 470th, 471st, 472nd, 473rd, 474th, 475th, 476th, 477th, 478th, 479th, 480th, 481st, 482nd, 483rd, 484th, 485th, 486th, 487th, 488th, 489th, 490th, 491st, 492nd, 493rd, 494th, 495th, 496th, 497th, 498th, 499th, 500th, 501st, 502nd, 503rd, 504th, 505th, 506th, 507th, 508th, 509th, 510th, 511th, 512th, 513th, 514th, 515th, 516th, 517th, 518th, 519th, 520th, 521st, 522nd, 523rd, 524th, 525th, 526th, 527th, 528th, 529th, 530th, 531st, 532nd, 533rd, 534th, 535th, 536th, 537th, 538th, 539th, 540th, 541st, 542nd, 543rd, 544th, 545th, 546th, 547th, 548th, 549th, 550th, 551st, 552nd, 553rd, 554th, 555th, 556th, 557th, 558th, 559th, 560th, 561st, 562nd, 563rd, 564th, 565th, 566th, 567th, 568th, 569th, 570th, 571st, 572nd, 573rd, 574th, 575th, 576th, 577th, 578th, 579th, 580th, 581st, 582nd, 583rd, 584th, 585th, 586th, 587th, 588th, 589th, 590th, 591st, 592nd, 593rd, 594th, 595th, 596th, 597th, 598th, 599th, 600th, 601st, 602nd, 603rd, 604th, 605th, 606th, 607th, 608th, 609th, 610th, 611th, 612th, 613th, 614th, 615th, 616th, 617th, 618th, 619th, 620th, 621st, 622nd, 623rd, 624th, 625th, 626th, 627th, 628th, 629th, 630th, 631st, 632nd, 633rd, 634th, 635th, 636th, 637th, 638th, 639th, 640th, 641st, 642nd, 643rd, 644th, 645th, 646th, 647th, 648th, 649th, 650th, 651st, 652nd, 653rd, 654th, 655th, 656th, 657th, 658th, 659th, 660th, 661st, 662nd, 663rd, 664th, 665th, 666th, 667th, 668th, 669th, 670th, 671st, 672nd, 673rd, 674th, 675th, 676th, 677th, 678th, 679th, 680th, 681st, 682nd, 683rd, 684th, 685th, 686th, 687th, 688th, 689th, 690th, 691st, 692nd, 693rd, 694th, 695th, 696th, 69

TO LET, 61, Argyll-street. Sargeant and Co., provision merchants, Circular Quay.

TO LET, Marion-street. Knibb, comfortably furnished House, 6 rooms, bath, gas, copper. Apply 22, Farnes-st.

TO LET, large and small HOUSES; optional to purchase furniture by instalments. Apply at 11, Pitt-st.

TO LET, a 3-roomed HOUSE, in Princes-street. Apply 131, Kent-street.

TO LET, 6-roomed HOUSE, gas, bath, &c., in large yard, Glenview-street. 281, Darnley-street.

TO LET, HOUSE, 4 rooms, kitchen, &c., Shepherds-Darlington. Apply 55, Cooper-street, Mary Hill.

TO LET, No. 49, Crown-street, 8 rooms, bath, gas, &c.

TWO HOUSES to LET, 6 rooms, super. bath, 1st, 1st week, 17, Bennett-street, off Moore Park, Upper Italia.

TWO LET. HOUSE, grand harbour view, cheerful; close to tram, but out of dust and noise. 256, J. Pender, 6 Arcade.

TWO LET, two or three good OFFICES, in the best position in the city, opposite the Exchange, &c. &c.

TO LET, at Southfield, a new Brick HOUSE, with 4 rooms and kitchen, 2 or 3 acres of land, securely fenced, well watered. Apply to the Postmaster, Southfield.

TO LET, a few good OFFICES, ground and first floors, in connection with the Royal Arcade, 121 and George streets. Apply J. W. and F. White, esq., George-street.

TO LET, a Neutral Bay, HOUSE, 8 rooms, kitchen servants' rooms, outbuildings, boathouse, garden, and three acres land. APRIL 7, Spring-street.

TO LET, good roomy OFFICE, 63, Pitt-street, suitable for Commercial Broker or Shipping Agent. Apply LINDSAY Drysdale, and Co., 347, George-street.

TATTERSALL'S BUILDINGS and CHAMBERS, Corner Hunter and Castlereagh streets, City.

TO BE LET, those centrally-situated PREMISES on Pitt-street, lately in the occupation of Messrs. Allnutt & Co. as wine and spirit stores and offices. Apply to Dalton Brothers, Pitt-street.

TO LET or SELL, the Goulburn ENGINEERING and FOUNDRY WORKS, with goodwill and stock, and

TO LET or for SALE, near junction of Burwood and Liverpool roads, a nice COTTAGE, consisting of 6 rooms, kitchen, laundry, pantry, &c. Apply Mrs. Austin, Audlem, Enfield.

TO LET, STORE, 70 x 25, situated Harbour-street back Kidman's mill, opposite railway; containing 3 plots. Apply W. S. Galbraith, over Kidman's shop, corner of George-street; or at the mill.

TO LET, a FARM, 100 acres, 26 acres fenced and cleared, under fruit trees bearing, 12 miles from Manly. For

TO LET, commodious Family RESIDENCE, with water frontage, Peacock's Point, Balmain; low rental; tenant. Hancock and Cross, Merton Estate and general agency office, Beattie and Elliott streets, Balmain.

TO LET, No. 4, Albert-street, Woolahra, a semi-detached HOUSE, containing eight rooms, beautiful

TO LET, from 1st November, No. 3, Fallowston-terrace, Gleebe Point-road, one DWELLING-HOUSE, containing 4 rooms, servant's and bathrooms, kitchen, &c.; rent, £30 per annum; taxes paid; keys at No. 2. Apply Robt. Micklejohn, 135, Sussex-street.

TO LET. In Royal Arcade, large Offices or Sample Rooms, 14 by 27, 13 by 20, 24 by 28, 14 and 17; also good Floor Offices, 14 by 27. Apply
J. W. and F. WILLIAMS.

475, George-street;
or persons in receipt of Anglo-
TO MERCHANTS AND OTHERS.—The ANGLO-AUSTRALIAN INVESTMENT, FINANCE, AND LAND COMPANY, Limited, is prepared to receive applications for LEASING THE LARGE AND COMMODIOUS STORES now in course of erection in Kent-street, between King-street and Fiskine-street. Full particulars on application at the Company's Office, 359, George-street. WM. SHENSTONE, Manager.

T O STORES and OFFICES, 167, Pitt-street, late in the occupation of Messrs. Harris and Arkman, large and commodious premises, three stories in height, with private road to back stores, which are also of three stories, very complete in every respect, fitted with patent lifts, &c. For full particulars,

HARRIS and ACKMAN, Auctioneers,
177, Pitt-street.

T O L E T

The NEW WAREHOUSES.

adjoining the NEW AUCTION MART, 177, PITT-STREET, consisting of four-story buildings and cellars; also, the Cellar forming the basement of the New Auction Mart, and the backstore of four-stories, with entrance from George-street.

The above premises are fitted with all the best appliances for heating, &c. For full particulars apply to
HARRIS and ACKMAN, Auctioneers,
107, Pitt-street.

ULTIMO.—To LET, SHOP and DWELLING; also House, with five-stalled stable. 494, Harris-street.

ULTIMO, near Pyrmont Bridge, Houses, 4 rooms, in good order; rents, 14s. 3s. 6d., 24s. 6d., 30s. 6d.

VICTORIA-TER. Paddington-st., 1 ad. HOUSE, 7 rooms, bath, w. house, 3 years built, 450s. Love, Area 4.

VILLA to LET.—Discrete Villa to let, situated at Woolwich, Lane Cove River. Apple Rd., Chiswick—1 ad.

WAREHOUSE and OFFICES to L.T. with immediate possession, and situate at 63, York-st., W. 100 sq. ft. For keys and full particulars, apply to M.M. & Co.

WOLLAHRA.—HOUSE, 7 rooms, kitchen, bath, and store room; gas and water connection; rent moderate. Carlton House, or late, 112, Rue street.

WOOLLAHRA, corner Nelson and Queen streets.—New HOUSE, containing drawing-room, with large balcony, dining and library, with sliding glass doors, 7 bedrooms, 7 bathrooms, and 6 closets.

WOLLAHRA.—To LET, Ocean-street, semi-detached Villa, contains drawing and dining rooms (opening doors), 3 or 4, four bedrooms, bathroom, besides kitchen, bath, and a large terrace garden.

SYDNEY MORNING HERALD
 SUBSCRIPTIONS: £3 12s per annum.
 This rate is for payment in advance.
 Single copies, 6d each.

N.B.—All advertisements under six lines will be charged 50s advertisers' account if booked.
N.B.—Advertisers in the country can remit payment by Money Orders or Postage Stamps.
ADVERTISEMENTS are classified as far as possible, for convenience of readers, but no guarantee is given that they shall appear under special headings.
While every care is exercised in regard to the due insertion of advertisements, the advertiser is responsible for the correctness of the copy sent.

advertisements, the proprietors do not undertake any responsibility for non-insertion through accident or from other causes; and the proprietors reserve to themselves the right of omitting advertisements that they may deem objectionable, even although such advertisements may have been received and paid for in the usual course of business.

* * * The above rule is rendered necessary in consequence of false and malicious notices having been sent for publication for the purpose of annoying respectable persons.

SYDNEY.—Printed and published by JOHN FAIRFAX and SONS, at the office of the Sydney Morning Herald, Pitt and Bridge streets, Thursday, October 11, 1883.

au/nla.news-page141